School Theme: 1 Love 5 Sunshine

It's a new year again! Did you enjoy the new year? The theme of this year is about sunshine. What do you think about it? It's a theme that's full of energy, power and happiness.

Happiness comes from within. It gives us the power and courage in the face of adversity. Having a positive attitude is the secret to happiness. Being a student at HKUGAPS, we always look on the bright side and think positively.

There are many ways to make yourself happy. Here are the best three I found. The first thing you can do is to exercise more. Recent studies show that exercise has a profound effect on our happiness and well-being. It has been proven to be an effective strategy for overcoming depression. The second way is to sleep more. Having enough sleep helps our bodies to recover from the day and repair themselves. Therefore, it helps us focus and be more productive. The last thing is to spend more time with family and friends. It is always nice to have some social gatherings such as having a party, going on a picnic or a day trip instead of just lying on the bed or playing video games alone.

Let's enjoy our happiness every day!

Our School Theme

We have a new school theme again! Do you want to know what it is? Let me tell you now!

Our new school theme is "I Love Sunshine". Our school social worker, Miss Tsoi, suggested this idea because it is the school's 15th Anniversary and she wants us to have positive thinking.

What is positive thinking? Let me explain to you! Positive thinking is an attitude in which you expect good results. A positive mind looks for happiness and success in any situation. Our school teaches us to be kind to others too!

Let's engage in positive thinking together. If you want to know more about our school theme, you can approach Miss Tsoi or any teacher at UGA.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Our wonderful memories as a member of the school football team

Having great interest in playing football, many fellow school mates and I have jointly formed a team and we started receiving regular training since this summer. Fortunately, our sheer efforts were paid off upon the triumph of our team in the inter-school competition.

This year, we have been undergoing a series of training every week. Memories were bittersweet. You can never imagine how torturing it was as we had to do vigorous exercise under the dazzling sunlight. It would be more grueling and disastrous on rainy days.

After each class, all of us were exhausted. However, we were delighted as both of our collaboration and technical skills kept improving little by little.

Finally, it came to the match. We had to participate in the "Five-people" and "Nine-people match". During the matches, we strived hard to gain every point.

We were never contented! What we craved was to be champion! Even our coach, who is very strict and seldom praises people, complimented us on our hard work.

To our disappointment, we only won third place. Many of us, including me, burst into tears due to the failure.

Not content with this achievement, our school football team aimed at winning the "Nine-people match". We also have regular training on Saturdays and Wednesdays.

Finally, on the 6th December, it came to the "Nine-people match". We were very excited about the match. During the match, we strived hard to earn every point and our fellow football teammates, teachers and principal came to cheer for us. Finally, we won the match and our goal was fully reached.

The swimming competition

On the 4th November, our school went to Victoria Park swimming pool to have an inter school competition. Our school has 24 swimmers. There were lots of schools. There were different races and I had to swim freestyle and breaststroke.

I swam my best time in the breaststroke race, but I still didn't get a trophy. The next race was 50 metres freestyle. I also swam a good time, so I was extremely pleased about this. When it was lunch time, I ordered McDonald's because I had to have my lunch quickly, since I still had a 50 metres relay competition.

The relay competition was fantastic because we all swam our best time. This meant we won 3rd place! It was such a great day!

There are 27 dancers in the School Dance Team and our teacher is named Miss Sze. Before the competition, we kept running through the whole Dance Routine. Sometimes Miss Sze would comment on our performance. Then we would correct the points that Miss Sze told us to. We were not lazy.

Still, before the competition, I would run through the whole dance routine in my mind before sleeping, and run through it again with my fingers on the minibus. Sometimes, we would make mistakes and Miss Sze would scold us, but we would always do it again until we got it right.

Even though we had to go through the dance again and again, we knew that this was because we had a competition. We had to work hard so that we could do our best and make Miss Sze impressed. In March, we had a competition against other schools. After the competition, I waited for the results, and we won! I'm extremely excited for the next competition.

HKUGAPS Talented Skippers

Our school rope skippers attended a rope skipping competition on 4th December, 2016. Everyone felt excited after the competition.

Every teammate worked very hard before the competition. We also have regular practice every Tuesday. Every rope skipper practices hard at home too.

All of our teammates are still doing our best and continuing with our regular practice even though the competition has finished.

Some other students may think that skipping is boring. It is not as exciting as football or basketball. For the skipping team, however, it is not just simply 'skipping'. We are passionate about it.

If you want to join the skipping team, you need to be hard-working and cooperative.

Team work is important. We hope you will join us and become one of our talented rope skippers.

Introducing our New Teaching Assistants

Three new TAs have joined our big family this year. Last month, I interviewed one of them. He is Mr. Cheung Chi Chong.

The TA's job is to help teachers print worksheets and teaching materials.

He also chaperones the School Swimming team, Rugby team and Football team.

He said that students at our school are talkative but they are well behaved. If he reminds them, they will not be so noisy and they will listen and behave well. So, he thinks our students are well-mannered.

Last year's Annual Performance was a drama with two dances performed by class 4A and class 5C of last year. The school choir also sang songs accompanied by a piano played by Alex Tam from 4B.

There were two parts in the drama. They did part one on stage and are going to continue with part two this coming summer.

One of the characters is Ah Three acted by Queston from 4A. He was a millionaire from Hong Kong. He had three iPhones but he had only three friends. The first was his maid but she went to the Philippines for a holiday. The second was his turtle from Brazil and the last one was an online friend.

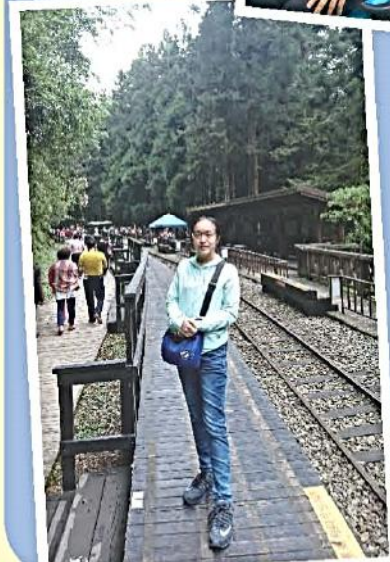

The story was about a few kids who were trying to win a competition by making the best video and uploading it on Facebook to get the most 'likes'.

This is just part one. If you want to know what part two is about, remember to watch our Annual performance this year!

Our New Library

The new school year has started. Do you know that while you were enjoying your summer holiday, Mr Hung and the workers worked busily on our library renovation project. Well, who is Mr Hung? He is our new librarian! Let's talk to him.

Q: Hello, Mr. Hung, can I ask you some questions about our school library?

A: Certainly!

Q: Have you worked in other school libraries before?

A: Yes, I've worked in some other secondary and primary schools.

Q: How did you feel when you first came to the library?

A: I felt pleased, happy and comfortable because the environment made me feel relaxed.

Q: Do you enjoy the environment in the library?

A: I enjoy the environment because it is colorful and there are many books.

Q: Are the students nice to you?

A: Yes, they're polite and smart.

Q: Are you busy working here?

A: Yes, I am very busy because I need to help the students borrow and return books, organize new books and repair the old ones. But I feel happy to see students' devotion to reading.

Q: Thanks for your time!

School Picnic

We went to the "Lady MacLeHose Holiday Village" for a picnic on 23rd November, 2016. The weather was bad on that day. It was raining cats and dogs. We thought the picnic would be cancelled but our teachers decided to go. Lucky us!

It took us one and a half hours to get there by school bus. We were all very excited. When we arrived there, the teachers led us to a hall for a short briefing. They gave us some reminders, such as what time we had to gather for lunch and locations of different activities. The staff at the restaurant also introduced us to the "Lady MacLeHose Holiday Village". They gave us some tickets to join different types of activities, e.g. basketball, squash, football and archery.

When the teachers said, "Let's go!", all the students ran out of the hall. They were eager to discuss what to play and where to go. My group first went to the karaoke room. We sang a lot of songs and during the singing, Mr. Cho came in and sang with us. Then, we played badminton. We had a lot of battles. Our class teachers, Mr. Shing and Miss Wong challenged us. We had some exciting and fun games. In the last round, Mr. Shing wanted to catch Miss Wong's ball but he slipped on the floor. However, he didn't give up. He got back up immediately and made some brilliant shots. We had great fun playing badminton.

We had a wonderful time. Although, the weather was really horrible, we managed to play some indoor games. We can't wait for another wonderful picnic in Primary 6!

Pokémon Go is Dangerous!

Nowadays, people like to play games on their mobile phones. They often install Pokémon Go on their mobile phones. They play it and get hurt. Oh no! Pokémon Go is so dangerous! Many people in the United States and United Kingdom hurt themselves while they are playing Pokémon Go!

Why is Pokémon Go dangerous?

Because if the people want to catch more than one Pokémon, they usually walk in the street or they will drive to the place where the Pokémon are. When the Pokémon appears, they will stand or stop where the Pokémon is and catch it. Sometimes the Pokémon will appear on the road and that is DANGEROUS!! The reason is because the people always look at their phone but they don't look at the road, so they crash into cars easily. After reading this article, I hope you will be careful while playing Pokémon Go!

Traditional Chinese New Year Food

Chinese New Year is coming soon. There is a lot of traditional food at Chinese New Year such as rice pudding, turnip cake and fried dumplings. What do you like? In my opinion fried turnip cake is the most delicious because it is crispy and juicy. When Chinese New Year comes, I can't stop eating it. It's really yummy. Do you know what our schoolmates like to eat?

I have taken a survey to see which traditional Chinese New Year Food they like. About 40% of our students like candies because they are sweet. About 30% of them like turnip cakes as they said they were the signature dish of Chinese New Year. 20% of them like fried dumplings because they are crispy and you can only eat that at Lunar New Year. 10% of them like rice pudding because it is chewy.

How about you? Are you going to try all these kinds of traditional food at Chinese New Year? Definitely for me!

Autumn

It's nice to see you, don't you know?
 You paint my world and make it glow:
 Crunchy red apples ripened on the trees,
 Golden crops on the field and paths covered with yellow leaves.

You send away summer scorch,
 Light up the pumpkin lantern with a gleaming torch.

Farmers harvest when you are here,
 So I hope you won't disappear.

Hiking on a rocky mountain, up I climb with all my might.
 Tangling kites soar into the sky,
 finding their way with vigorous fight.

Gentle breeze kisses my face and makes me smile.

Autumn, can't you stay for a longer while?

Amrik came to SKZIGANS

Amrik came to our class last week. He was shy when he came to the classroom.

The first lesson was Chinese. He didn't understand any Chinese so he looked in despair and bored. Fortunately, I was sitting beside him and I translated what the teacher said into English but he still looked confused. I tried to use some body language and this time he understood. Amrik was pleased because of my help.

At recess time, Amrik whispered slowly and silently, "I... I want to go to the toilet... Where is it?"

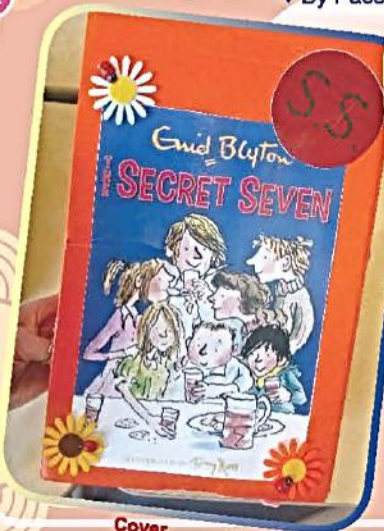

I brought him to the toilet and answered kindly, "This is the toilet and please remember this place." He nodded and rushed into the toilet quickly. After that, I introduced other places to him and he was surprised by the big and beautiful school.

After school, we went back home together. From that day on, we were friends forever.

Game Project

By Karen Kan 6A

It was a great day.

Yesterday was our game day. My groupmates and I went to the first floor at 2nd recess and set up our game booth quickly.

Before the game day, we prepared a lot. First, we brainstormed and discussed our ideas. Then, we confirmed that we would use paper planes to shoot some holes. The game name would be "Fly to the holes". After that, we made a board, folded some paper planes, drew the posters and also prepared the prizes. Finally, we had a tryout on 28th September, 2016.

We had the tryout in the covered playground on the ground floor. I didn't think it was successful because we couldn't attract many players. We found this a problem so we improved it on the real game day. We made more posters and I even put a mini paper plane on my glasses frames! This time about 25 to 35 players came! I thought our advertisement worked!

I felt a sense of fulfillment, Yukari felt happy, Natalie felt fantastic, Jayne felt excited and Andrea thought this project was a good experience for her and her friends. This experience could help her in the future!

In this project, I learnt three important things.

The first one is to cooperate. To finish this project quickly, we needed to cooperate. The second one is to prepare for the unexpected incidents, just like losing a plane. Fortunately, we brought some extra planes. The last one is we have to appreciate others' works and efforts, then we can learn from each other to improve ourselves.

A Modern Sleeping Beauty

Once upon a time, there was a princess who lived in a city called Hong Kong. One day, the king invited everyone, including the three fairies, to go to the castle in Chai Wan to celebrate.

Suddenly, the bad witch, who was full of hatred, and her black bird appeared. She was furious that the king didn't invite her. The witch said, "As a revenge, on the sixteenth birthday of the princess, she will eat an egg tart, then she will die. The princess can only wake up if a prince kisses her!"

In a blink of an eye, the witch and her bird vanished.

Next day, the king burned all the egg tarts in the city and he asked the three fairies to take the princess to a hotel and look after her. The princess was a beautiful girl but she was disobedient, she always went to the forest and played with the animals there by herself.

On the sixteenth birthday of the princess, she went to the forest again, she saw a cha chan ting there. She went inside and she saw an egg tart on a table. She felt hungry so she gobbled up the egg tart and then she fell asleep.

Fortunately, the fairies found the princess and they took her back to the castle by MTR. The witch chased after them. The king called the prince to come and help. The prince arrived at the castle and he saw the witch. The witch turned into a dragon and fought with the prince. The courageous prince took out his sword and cut the dragon's head off so it died.

As speedy as a rocket, the prince went to the princess's room in the castle and gave a big kiss to her. She finally woke up.

At last, the princess married the prince and they lived happily ever after.

Theseus and the Cubtic

After defeating the Minotaur, Theseus left with Ariadne and the 13 youths. King Minos was furious and sent another monster after them so that it could kill all of them, including the thirteen young men and women. One night, while Theseus and Ariadne were enjoying the sea breeze on the ship, they heard a loud "Thump". They turned and saw a young polar bear.

"Aww...That's so cute!" cooed Ariadne.

Then, the cub pointed towards a foggy island nearby.

"That must be its home," thought Theseus. "We have to deliver the cub home!"

Theseus instructed the captain to sail towards the island.

As the ship gradually stopped, the cub jumped out and started walking. Mesmerized by its adorable look, Theseus, Ariadne and the thirteen youths followed, wanting to make sure that the cub arrived home safe and sound. As they rounded a corner, the cub was gone! No longer hypnotized, their consciousness came back.

"Why are we here?" wondered Ariadne. "The Cubtic, an ice maze, hypnotizing powers... This is Queen Katy's maze! And it's ten times bigger than King Mino's! But..." Ariadne wagged her eyebrows, looking mysterious. "Since Queen Katy is King Mino's sister, I know the way out."

Theseus and the thirteen youths released a breath they didn't realize they were holding. They followed Ariadne into the middle of the maze, through an underground tunnel and returned to the surface. They saw their ship in the distance and charged towards it. At last, they boarded the ship and headed home.

A Modern Aladdin and the Magic Lamp

Once upon a time (which wasn't long ago), there was a rich man named Aladdin who worked in McDonalds as an ice seller. One day, he saw a strange McFlurry cup. He was curious so he rubbed the cup. Suddenly, a genie, who was wearing robes, came out of the cup.

"Why did you set me free? The genie asked angrily. "I was about to win a million!"

"You were? I mean, of course you were," said Aladdin.

Aladdin couldn't believe his eyes. According to his grandad, genies grant you three wishes after you free them.

"Can you grant me three wishes?" he asked.

"No! Why would I grant you any wishes after you made me come out?" the genie asked.

"You have to! That's the rule!" said Aladdin.

"Fine! What do you want?" asked the genie.

"Hmm...", thought Aladdin. "I've made up my mind! Give me a huge plasma TV!"

"OK!" said the genie.

"Trumpahola jumpandiela," he chanted and big TV appeared.

"What is this supposed to be?" asked Aladdin.

"Your TV," answered the genie.

"What! This is junk! This is not a plasma TV and I can't even go to YouTube!" yelled Aladdin.

"Oh," muttered the genie, "I'll give you two more chances."

"OK," said Aladdin. He knew he had to be careful. "I'll have an iPhone!"

"Moronsareweird jumperskilldears," chanted the genie. An old and cheap Nokia phone appeared.

"Are you kidding me! You don't know what an iPhone is?" yelled Aladdin.

"Oh, the best phone brand we had back then was Nokia," said the genie.

"Fine," Aladdin knew he had to be really careful. "I want a better job!" yelled Aladdin.

"OK," said the genie and he chanted, "Zootopia lobsterkidia."

Aladdin turned into a millionaire. "What! I was a billionaire!" yelled Aladdin.

"You've used all your choices. Goodbye!" said the genie and he disappeared.

My Summer at Cambridge

In August 2016, my friends and I travelled a long way away from Hong Kong to Europe (Finally! The first time I went outside of Asian lands.), where the European Union thrived, and where different cultures were developed in such a tiny land. The Cambridge Programme lasted for two weeks before we returned back to Hong Kong.

Now, most people who come from such a long way away will have problems adapting to the environment, such as having jet lag. Me? Not so much. I slumbered like a hibernating bear, but I had problems adapting to the other elements of life. In Britain, they use the hard water taken from the underground water. We use soft water which is pumped from China to Hong Kong, where we drink it plentifully. Without China, we would not have enough supplies of water to sustain ourselves. In addition, Hong Kong is more humid, rainier, and obviously, much hotter than Cambridge. They have 19 degrees Celsius days, while we have 34 degrees daily. Different cultures, really. So, students remember to bring more clothes!

The food in Cambridge was rather unpredictable. Sometimes, it could be fresh, delectable lasagne. Sometimes, it would be yucky fried fish and mint-flavoured mutton.

I have talked enough about the environment, so I am moving on to the next topic: What I learnt in this content journey in Cambridge. There were three main subjects, History, Science, and English. During these lessons, we learnt a ton of things. For instance, I learnt much of Charles Darwin's Evolution theory. In his time, most people were Christian in Europe and believed that all things were created by the mighty god but Charles Darwin disagreed with that. He thought that all creatures change within time, given the environment, they will adapt to it and change their features of their body. He called it the natural selection. Most people did not believe him. They thought that Darwin was insane and should not be trusted. Gradually, people started to believe what Darwin had stated. They were called "Darwinists".

The next example is what I learnt in English lessons. We learnt what World War Two was and how the innocent people in Britain adapted to the harsh, cruel environments of rationing, evacuating, and more. I even learnt that some people evaded the lethal bombs by hiding under a hard metal table called the Morrison Shelter. The thing I liked most in history lesson was, of course, the debate in the last lesson. Five countries were debating about the future of an unstable Europe. I was the leader of the Soviet Union (communism!) and the other countries were the United States of America, The United Kingdom, France and Germany. I persuaded the other countries about the spread of communism and forbidding the deployment of American atomic weapons in Europe. In the end, the Soviets won by beating of Yugoslavia.

I have learnt much from this amazing adventure, mostly experience. I learnt how to live on my own, pack my own things, and basically, take care of myself. I advise everyone coming on this trip to drink a lot more water, and sleep more, because I got sick once, and it was a dreadful time for me. I also hope that I can go on the Cambridge Programme one more time!

TERRIFIC TAIWAN TRIP

From 20th June of 2016 to 23rd of June of 2016, twenty-eight students and four teachers visited Taiwan. They learnt many different ideas from people and places in Taiwan. They went to a lot of places like the Beitou Waste Incineration Plant. Our twenty-eight students traveled from Taipei to Tainan. Let's see what they learnt:

Lambert:

I learnt many different things from this trip, but I learnt the most at the Beitou Waste Incineration Plant. The reason is that I could learn how waste incineration works.

If we have another one of these trips, then I will totally go again because we can learn a lot from these trips.

So, if you are now a Primary 4 student, then you have to keep up your good work and you will have a chance to go to Taiwan this year.

The Best Summer Programme

This Cambridge programme is the best one I've been to. I've made a lot of memories, learned a lot of stuff, and made a lot of friends. I still remember that on the second day, when Michelle, Belle and I first met our new group mates from Ying Wa, we had no idea what to say. But after a few days, we were talking to each other like we'd known them for a long time!

We had a lot of lessons in this programme, and the subjects were English & Drama, Science and History. The Drama teacher, Mr Andy, was really funny. Also, my group won the drama presentation about evacuees. Winning isn't important, the best thing was that we had fun preparing for the show. I liked Science too, as we learned a lot of stuff about animal habitats and energy resources. I learned a lot of facts from History lessons, mostly about World War 2. But I liked the lessons when we were taught about the famous Charles Darwin the most. I studied him in the past, so I was able to answer the questions about him.

As I said, I made a lot of memories during this program, and I learned a lot of things from those memories. There was this time when a half-dead bee climbed out of the grass, and crawled onto my shirt. I was really glad that I didn't scream, otherwise, the bee might've stung me. I learned that you need to keep calm and try to solve the problem, not always scream for someone to help you. Another thing that I've learnt is that if you want to succeed, you have to sacrifice something. My group had to stay in the college and practice for the drama while other groups went out to town. We were sad to miss the opportunity to go out to town, but it was worth it. Our presentation was the best and we won the prize, which was six points. I learnt a lot throughout this program, and I still miss the happy times a lot. I hope that I can participate in similar programmes in the future.

Reflection on my Travel to Cambridge

It's my pleasure to participate in this Cambridge programme. Through this programme, I have acquired many new abilities. During the two weeks in Cambridge, I needed to train myself to do everything independently without others' help.

The time in Cambridge was fabulous. The schedule was obviously tight for the two weeks, but every activity was amazing and the directors helped us by organising a lot. Out of my expectation, every single mentor was kind, and all of my group mates were so friendly to me.

I like the activities the most. Firstly, the junior choir that I joined for evensong on Sunday was fantastic and everyone did a great job! Secondly, the time at Whipsnade zoo was great as I saw many different animals from different continents. Thirdly, the day in London was impressive because we saw interesting fossils at the museum and watched a popular play called 'Railway Children'. Honestly, I can hardly resist joining another programme like this next time!

On the other hand, I also experienced some unexpected incidents during these two weeks. Fortunately, with caring teachers, mentors and group mates, I was able to solve these problems.

It was a fine day and after eating my lunch at the Imperial War Museum, silly me tucked my phone into my pocket. Just when the group activities started, I suddenly found that my phone had disappeared. Oh dear, I never realised that my pocket had a hole! My teachers, mentor and group mates helped me search for the phone high and low but to no avail. We could only go to the reception and tell them that I had lost my phone. Later on, we went to the reception again to see if anyone had handed my phone to them. Surprisingly, someone had handed it in after lunch. Everyone was relieved. Through this incident, I found that my group mates are really caring and they would try their best to help each other. Also, my teachers and mentor are kind and nice as they also did their best to help me.

The experience in Cambridge is unforgettable, for I have learnt so much through this programme. I met new friends. I have learnt how to be independent and take care of myself. I also learnt more about the history of WWII and the British culture. I have no reservation recommending other students to join this programme next time!

The Junior Cambridge Programme (abstract)

By Sidney Chan 6C (2015-2016)

...Throughout the programme, we've been going to different places, and I've learnt a lot about the UK. I do think the lessons were helpful to our academic learning, which is why I wrote a lot of notes. I actually surprised myself because I never do it that often. I wish to keep up this good habit till college so I can be a bit more hard-working than I am now.

Finally, thanks to this trip, I've learnt more about myself, and realized my mistakes and disciplined myself, which are signs that I've become more independent. Looking back, I can see all the good and bad things I've done to myself, and from this trip I get to re-evaluate myself. In the process I can see all my bad habits built way before I understood, and I have the chance to develop a new self and re-make all the habits again. This trip was a lot of fun and inspiring. I learnt a lot from it, which is why it will never be erased from my memory.

My favourite game -OVERWATCH

'Overwatch' is a computer game which I think is fun. That's why I want to share it with you.

I love 'Overwatch' because I like cartoons and super heroes who save the world.

There are different heroes in the game; some are fighting heroes, some are defending heroes and some are healing heroes.

The hero I like the most is, the Hanzo, who is a defensive hero. He is Japanese and he uses a bow and arrow to kill enemies. In this game, there is an achievement award called 'Player of the game'. You can get the achievement award if you manage a triple kill. This game is expensive because it costs $500!

A film review-Peculiar

Do you think there are peculiar children in the world? If you think so, I will recommend this movie to you. It is called 'Ms Peregrine's House For Peculiar Children'.

This movie was directed by Tim Burton, a famous director. He made a lot of exciting movies such as 'Alice In Wonderland' and 'Charlie and the Chocolate Factory'.

In the story, Jake, a human, suddenly went back to 1943 and met Ms Peregrine and those peculiar children. A really bad person, Mr Barron, attacked the house for peculiars and kidnapped Ms Peregrine. So the children had a great adventure and they saved the human world.

I have two favourite characters. The first one is Ms Peregrine. I like her because she was amazing. The next one is Emma because I love her peculiarity, which was being lighter than air. Also, she was played by my favourite star, Ella Purnell.

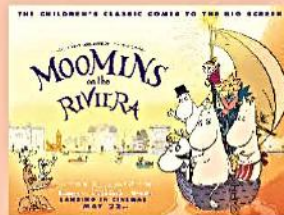

This is a perfect movie for the family!

Biscuit-Pancake

Hi, today I'm going to teach you how to cook biscuit-pancake.

What you need:

- A bag of biscuits
- A meat smasher/ (or a hammer, if --you don't have one)
- Pancake powder
- A spoon
- A bowl
- A bag big enough to put the biscuits in

Now, we can start making the Biscuit-pancake.

Steps:

1. Take the bag and the biscuits. Put the biscuits into the bag and seal securely. Use the meat smasher or hammer to smash the biscuits.
2. Pour the pancake powder into the bowl. Pour about 8 teaspoons of water into bowl.
3. Then pour the smashed biscuits into a bowl. Mix until there are no more bubbles in the mixture.
4. Heat the pan on the stove. Pour in some oil in case the pancake sticks to the pan.
After all of the oil has melted, slowly pour some of the mixture into the pan.
5. Wait until the side sticking to the pan can easily be shaken off with your hands gripping the hand of the pan.

Then flip the pancake over to the other side. Wait until it does not stick to the pan too.

Then lift it up and put it on a plate. One of your pancakes is ready! If you want more than one pancake, you can follow the steps again and again.

HOPE YOU ENJOY!

Riddles (from www.riddles.com)

- Picture three boxes containing fruit. The first box is marked peaches, the second is marked oranges, and the third box is marked peaches and oranges. Each of the boxes is labeled incorrectly. How could you label each box correctly if you were allowed to select only one fruit from one of the boxes?
- What goes through the door without pinching itself? What sits on the stove without burning itself? What sits on the table and is not ashamed?
- It runs and runs but can never flee. It is often watched, yet never sees. When long it brings boredom, when short it brings fear. What is it?

How to draw a dog?

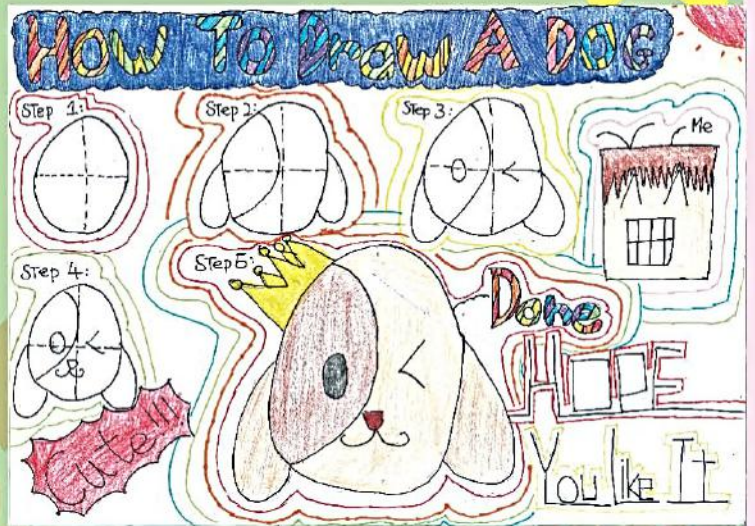

Step 1: Draw a cross, then a circle.

Step 2: Draw a curved line on the left of the circle and two ears by the sides.

Step 3: Draw the eyes for the dog.

Step 4: Draw a mouth for the dog.

Step 5: Colour it!

(1) First, you select a fruit from the box marked peaches and oranges. If it was an orange you selected, you know that the box could only contain oranges. If it was a peach, you know that the box could only contain peaches since each box is incorrectly marked. If, for example an orange was selected, you would mark that box oranges and switch the other two incorrect labels around. Now all three would be correctly labeled.
